

GRADUATE DEGREE

Master's Degree : 66.7 euros/credit*

• Master's degree in Human Rights and Democracy

120 credits, 4 semesters

Requirements for admission

- Bachelor's degree in social sciences
- Good command of English

Périodes d'admission

- January to May (for the Fall semester).
- A special procedure is set up for late admissions.

DESCRIPTION

The program includes research-oriented courses and practical trainings in the field of human rights and democratization. It attracts students, researchers and experts from the region and beyond, because of its comparative approach and its interdisciplinary character. Based in Beirut, it offers cross-regional mobility, with one semester in a partner university across the region: Morocco, Tunisia, Jordan, and Egypt.

Students acquire theoretical and practical knowledge and insights into the region and the master's main themes. It also allows students to develop their research and practical skills, through in-class activities, an internship, field research and project design.

JOB OPPORTUNITIES

Opens up the expanding field of Human Rights and Democratic governance as a researcher, service provider, activist or consultant within the Public Sector, Private Sector, Civil Society Organizations, International Non-Governmental Organizations, and Inter-Governmental Organizations.

Location	Campus of social sciences, Block A - 1st floor, 5 th floor
Website	www.isp.usj.edu.lb
Email	isp@usj.edu.lb
Phone	961 (1) 421443

* Tuition fees 2020-2021