

CAMPUS MINISTRY

Founded by the Society of Jesus, USJ is deeply rooted in Jesuit spirituality. True to this inspiration and charism, it aims to provide “its instructors as well as its students an environment that supports their full development, by allowing them to nurture their faith and by responding to the moral and spiritual issues raised by each discipline.” (Charter of USJ, Article 17).

USJ entrusts this responsibility to the Society of Jesus, which oversees and coordinates the Campus Ministry, envisioned as a platform for interaction and dialogue among all members of the USJ community. Now more than ever, the Campus Ministry fulfills this role, given the country’s challenging conditions, which raise fundamental questions about the meaning of life, education, commitment, work, and more.

Amidst this uncertainty and despair, individuals seek beacons, guiding principles, and sources of illumination to move forward. The USJ Campus Ministry aspires to embody such a light, serving as a space where students, instructors, and staff contemplate contemporary relevance, resilience, and existential continuity. Faced with crisis and instability, the Campus Ministry offers presence, companionship, support, and shared journey. It fulfills this mission with the solid foundation and tools inherent in the Ignatian spirituality. Drawing on the faith and hope of past generations, it affirms the conviction that death does not dictate the final narrative, that life flourishes through love, and that the Cross illuminates the path towards Resurrection. It echoes the divine call of “Here I am,” resonating with the total self-surrender exemplified by Mary, Joseph, Samuel, and Christ.

Our inclusive Campus Ministry welcomes, hosts, nurtures, and mentors every member of the USJ community who seeks to grow in humanity. It offers engaging discussions, support groups, personalized mentoring, outings, and weekend retreats.
