1- Solidarity

USJ is a school of solidarity. We help you in the hope that you pay it forward. A large number of Lebanese families are going through difficult times because of the national socio-economic crisis. We stand by you. We support more than half of our students through various scholarships and financial aid programs. Hence, granting funds will be based on your academic and athletic achievements, social commitments, and the socio-economic situation of the family.

USJ is accredited by European and American agencies, such as ACQUIN, ABET, CIUTI and EMT. Additionally, Times Higher Education ranked USJ as #1 for its high quality education and care for health and well-being.

3- Personalized Support

For us, each student is not just a number, but a unique and valued person. This trait of Jesuit education has marked USJ since its foundation in 1875. From pre-college to the end of your program, our counselors, coaches, tutors, faculty and staff appreciate who each student is and support each one of them to become who they want to be.

4- Global Community

USJ will support you to become a member of a worldwide community through our student exchange and double-degree programs, which we will maintain despite the current unfavorable circumstances. Additionally, our influential alumni network will foster your national identity while facilitating your global insertion.

5- Diversity and Inclusion

USJ is a safe haven for all to create and foster companionship. We work for a successful Lebanon for its ideological, religious, artistic, and politically rich diversity. We care to see you develop all aspects of your life. You will most likely find a student club where you can belong and develop your skills and talents. If you do not find one, you will have the opportunity to create it.

Ahlan wa sahlán bel USJ!
